(a) whether it is a fact that Government have decided to rank all the licensed private engineering and management institutions in the country;

(b) the number of institutions to be covered for this purpose;

(c) the number of institutions approved by AICTE, State-wise; and

THE MINISTER OF HUMAN RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT (SHRI ARJUN SINGH): (a) to (d) The All India Council for Technical Education (AICTE), a statutory body for planned and co-ordinated development of technical education system in the country, have evolved a comprehensive system for accreditation of programmes in technical institutions. Those Technical Institutions from which two batches have graduated are eligible for accreditation. Accreditation has been made mandatory in a phased manner. In the first phase, institutions established in or before 1985-86 were asked to apply for accreditation by 31.3.2004. Prior to the 1st January 2003, accreditation was awarded to programmes under a four part grading system i.e. Grade A, B, C and NA (Not Accredited). After the 1st January 2003, a two part grading system, i.e. "accredited" and "not accredited" has been adopted.

AICTE have also taken initiative to grade, under a Performance Appraisal System, the technical institutions which are not yet eligible for accreditation i.e. institutions from which two batches have not graduated. Under the Performance Appraisal System, the technical institution will be graded on a five part grading system i.e. "Excellent", "Very Good", "Good", Average" and "Poor". Both the Accreditation and Performance Appraisal System cover all the programmes in technical institutions including government, government aided and self-financing institutions. Applications from 838 institutions have been received under the Performance Appraisal System and are being evaluated. Similarly, applications for 1460 programmes from 448 institutions are in process for accreditation. State-wise, number of institutions approved by AICTE is given in Statement-I (see below) and the State-wise, number of institutions/programmes accreditated by AICTE is given at Statement-II.
